NCURA-EARMA Fellowship Program

About the NCURA-EARMA Fellowship Program

The NCURA-EARMA Fellowship program is a joint initiative between NCURA and our sister organization EARMA (European Association of Research Managers and Administrators) this and other Fellowship programs have two underlying objectives: (i) the training of research administrators, and (ii) enhancing global research collaboration. This program is intended to reduce barriers to global research administration and create an administrative framework conducive to global research collaboration. There is an ever-increasing amount of global research collaboration, and these Fellowships aim to create a pool of individuals who are able to interpret a multitude of various sponsor requirements and assist their institution with administrative compliance on a global scale – from application submission through financial reporting and closeout.

The NCURA-EARMA Fellowship program will provide an opportunity for research administrators to travel to Europe's research organizations and to immerse themselves in a program of mutual learning and knowledge exchange. NCURA will support up to USD $2,000 in travel costs, and Fellows are expected to pass on their experiences and knowledge of how research administration management operates at their institution, to identify best practices and the local knowledge of their Host Institutions, and to respect all appropriate organizational rules and cultural practices.

If your institution is interested in serving as a Host Institution for a Fellow from EARMA or from another country, see the Host Institution webpage.

About EARMA

EARMA represents the community of Research Managers and Administrators (RM&As) in Europe. The members work in industry, academia, and the public and private sectors. They work with the European Commission, national, and international funding agencies. EARMA provides a networking forum, a learning platform, and a place to share experiences and best practice among RM&As throughout EARMA and in the wider RM&A community.

EARMA is an active member of the wider international RM&A community and is a founding member of the International Network of Research Management Societies (INORMS)
